

Dear Sir/Madam,

Reforms in labour laws are an ongoing for the emerging economic and industrial climate of India.

Accordingly, Ministry of Labour & Employment have taken several reform initiatives, both legislative reforms as well as Governance reforms through the use of technology, to reduce the complexity in compliance and bringing transparency and accountability leading to better enforcement of Labour Laws.

Off late both the sectors, the private and public sector, are heading towards an increased usage of labour substituting technologies which have led to many talent shifts. Such shifts in talent preferences are bound to impact the global economy and by extension the way we look at growing the ambit of jobs within the organized sectors in India. In order to counter the negative effects, many labour reforms are being considered.
