Financial services have seen a tectonic shift, across businesses, technology, engagement, regulation and services. The buzz around fintech has gained substantial attention of traditional financial institutions, startups, venture capitalists and regulators. Banks and regulators are hardpressed to revisit their operating model and policies respectively to create a conducive environment of collaboration and dynamism amidst the participants in the fintech ecosystem.

We have to understand where India stands in relation to the major growth drivers and benchmarks established by key global fintech ecosystems. What are the requirements and prerogatives of different stakeholders (financial institutions, startups, government and regulators) in order to establish a successful fintech ecosystem in India? What are the new frontiers that are enabling incumbent financial institutions to grow and innovate? Role of Fintech in Building a Digital Economy. An erudite panel of experts would deep dive into the topic.

The panel discussion will be moderated by Mr. Eapen Alexander, ED, Muthoot Group and Member IMC YLF and other key speakers are
